NEW CEU PROGRAM OFFERED BY VICTORIA + ALBERT.

With a Focus on "Minimal Space Design"

(North Charleston, SC – June 12, 2013) Victoria + Albert today announced approval for a third IDCEC approved continuing education program, Minimal Space Design, which focuses on designing bathrooms with limited space. This new program continues the company's mission to partner with designers, architects and specifiers to create beautiful design worldwide.

The CEU program will help educate architects and designers on designs to make any bathroom look much bigger overcoming many of the misconceptions that exist with small bath design. Victoria + Albert offer a beautiful collection of tub designs that are well suited for floor plans with limited space. The Continuing Education Course will help professionals earn 1.0 CEU UNIT.

Despite common false impressions, small bathrooms don't have to feel cramped or stuffy. With the option to be positioned anywhere within the bathroom, freestanding tubs reveal more floor area, therefore giving the illusion of more space. And Victoria + Albert's Edge and ios bathtubs fit within the standard 60" bath recess, so planners don't have to sacrifice design because of a small bath.

Victoria + Albert, known for their award-winning ENGLISHCAST[®] freestanding bathtubs and vessel sinks, is dedicated to supporting the architect and design community with their expanding CEU programs. Their other CEU courses include: Understanding the Green Consumer and the History of Bathing.
